

ABSTRACT

Surgical instruments are disclosed that are couplable to or have an end effector or a disposable loading unit with an end effector, and at least one micro-electromechanical system (MEMS) device operatively connected to the surgical instrument for at least one 5 of sensing a condition, measuring a parameter and controlling the condition and/or parameter.